Denis, Dondero Loop, Parks, Scheible and Woodhouse

CHAPTER.....

AN ACT relating to domestic violence; revising provisions relating to temporary and extended orders for protection against domestic violence; revising provisions relating to the crime of battery which constitutes domestic violence; providing penalties; and providing other matters properly relating thereto.

Legislative Counsel’s Digest:

Existing law sets forth certain unlawful acts which constitute domestic violence when committed against certain persons. (NRS 33.018) Existing law authorizes a court to grant a temporary or extended order for protection against domestic violence. (NRS 33.020) Section 1 of this bill prohibits a court, when determining whether to grant such an order, from considering any factor other than whether a petitioner was the victim of domestic violence or a threat thereof.

Existing law provides that a person is guilty of a misdemeanor for intentionally violating a temporary or extended order for protection against domestic violence. (NRS 33.100) Section 3 of this bill provides that a person who intentionally violates an extended order for protection against domestic violence and who has not previously violated such an order is guilty of a misdemeanor. Section 3 increases the penalty for intentionally violating such an extended order to: (1) a gross misdemeanor if the person has previously violated such an order one time; or (2) a category D felony if the person has previously violated such an order two or more times. Section 5 of this bill makes conforming changes.

Existing law makes it a category B felony, punishable by a minimum term of imprisonment of 2 years and a maximum term of 15 years and a fine of not less than $2,000 but not more than $5,000, to commit a battery which constitutes domestic violence if the person has previously been convicted of: (1) a felony in this State for committing battery which constitutes domestic violence; (2) a battery which constitutes domestic violence that is committed by strangulation; or (3) a violation of the law of any other jurisdiction that prohibits conduct that is the same or similar to a felony in this State for committing a battery which constitutes domestic violence. (NRS 200.485) Section 7 of this bill additionally provides that if such a person commits a battery which constitutes domestic violence and the person has previously been convicted of a battery with the use of a deadly weapon against a person who would otherwise qualify as a victim of domestic violence, the person is guilty of such a category B felony punishable by a minimum term of imprisonment of 2 years and a maximum term of 15 years, and a fine of not less than $2,000 but not more than $5,000. Sections 2 and 4-6 of this bill make conforming changes.
