A BILL

To extend the Federal recognition to the Little Shell Tribe of Chippewa Indians of Montana, and for other purposes.

1       Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

3 SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

4       This Act may be cited as the “Little Shell Tribe of 5 Chippewa Indians Restoration Act of 2015”.

1   SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

2       Congress finds that—

3               (1) the Little Shell Tribe of Chippewa Indians
4       is a political successor to signatories of the Pembina
5       Treaty of 1863, under which a large area of land in 6       the State of North Dakota was ceded to the United 7       States;

8               (2) the Turtle Mountain Band of Chippewa of 9       North Dakota and the Chippewa-Cree Tribe of the 10      Rocky Boy's Reservation of Montana, which also are 11      political successors to the signatories of the Pembina
12      Treaty of 1863, have been recognized by the Federal 13      Government as distinct Indian tribes;

14               (3) the members of the Little Shell Tribe con-
15       tinue to live in the State of Montana, as their ances-
16       tors have for more than 100 years since ceding land
17       in the State of North Dakota as described in para-
18       graph (1);

19               (4) in the 1930s and 1940s, the Tribe repeat-
20       edly petitioned the Federal Government for reorga-
21       nization under the Act of June 18, 1934 (25 U.S.C.
22       461 et seq.) (commonly known as the “Indian Reor-
23       ganization Act”);

24               (5) Federal agents who visited the Tribe and 25       Commissioner of Indian Affairs John Collier at-26       tested to the responsibility of the Federal Govern-

1       ment for the Tribe and members of the Tribe, con-
2       cluding that members of the Tribe are eligible for,
3       and should be provided with, trust land, making the 4       Tribe eligible for reorganization under the Act of 5       June 18, 1934 (25 U.S.C. 461 et seq.) (commonly 6       known as the “Indian Reorganization Act”);

7                 (6) due to a lack of Federal appropriations dur-
8       ing the Depression, the Bureau of Indian Affairs
9       lacked adequate financial resources to purchase land
10      for the Tribe, and the members of the Tribe were 11      denied the opportunity to reorganize;

12                 (7) in spite of the failure of the Federal Gov-
13       ernment to appropriate adequate funding to secure
14       land for the Tribe as required for reorganization
15       under the Act of June 18, 1934 (25 U.S.C. 461 et 16       seq.) (commonly known as the “Indian Reorganiza-
17       tion Act”), the Tribe continued to exist as a sepa-
18       rate community, with leaders exhibiting clear polit-
19       ical authority;

20                 (8) the Tribe, together with the Turtle Moun-
21       tain Band of Chippewa of North Dakota and the 22       Chippewa-Cree Tribe of the Rocky Boy’s Reserva-
23       tion of Montana, filed 2 law suits under the Act of 24       August 13, 1946 (60 Stat. 1049) (commonly known 25       as the “Indian Claims Commission Act”), to petition

1 for additional compensation for land ceded to the 2 United States under the Pembina Treaty of 1863
3 and the McCumber Agreement of 1892;

4 (9) in 1971 and 1982, pursuant to Acts of Con-
5 gress, the tribes received awards for the claims de-
6 scribed in paragraph (8);

7 (10) in 1978, the Tribe submitted to the Bu-
8 reau of Indian Affairs a petition for Federal recogni-
9 tion, which is still pending as of the date of enact-10 ment of this Act; and

11 (11) the Federal Government, the State of 12 Montana, and the other federally recognized Indian
13 tribes of the State have had continuous dealings
14 with the recognized political leaders of the Tribe
15 since the 1930s.
